After consideration of our current COVID-19 limitations, The Board of Directors of the Northern California Peace Officers Scholarship Fund has decided that it will not be possible to administer the annual scholarship program in 2020-2021.

Future uncertainty regarding the COVID-19 pandemic make it hard to manage the logistics that are required to conduct our candidate selection process. One of the most important elements of our selection process requires a face to face interview with prospective candidates. Current limitations will not allow that, and other options would not result in an opportunity for our candidates to present themselves in an environment common to all.

Our Board is disappointed that the annual tradition of awarding scholarships to students at CSUS, who are our future Criminal Justice leaders, will have to be deferred until next year.
